

Question: True/False - In Python programming, variables do not need to be declared before they are used.

- True
- False

Question: False - In Python Programming Curriculum, only int and float are supported as Data Types.

- True
- False

Question: True/False - In the control structures section of this curriculum document, it is stated that 'for loop

- True
- False

Question: True/False - In object-oriented programming with python, a class is like an empty blueprint witho

- True
- False

Question: True/False - In Python Programming Curriculum document, modules are files that contain only fu

- True
- False

Question: True/False - In Python programming curriculum document, packages are used only when there's

- True
- False